

Everyday Raptures and Repairs

wani toaishara 17 April – 16 May

Everyday Raptures and Repairs is a portrait-led body of work that turns toward the small, tender every day acts that sustain Black life. This work looks to the ordinary moments of ritual and repair that exist in spite of rupture, those daily raptures that hold together diasporic survival. It's about restoration as a kind of freedom work, about intimacy as a form of resistance, and about seeing Black life not only through the lens of trauma but through its magnificence, its laughter, and its devotion.
